BISMARCK IN HOT WATER.

The Emperor Waxes Angry Over the Criticisms in the Hamburger Nachrichten.

SERIOUS TROUBLE IS POSSIBLE.

Prosecution of the Offending Newspaper Is Threatened.

WHAT THE SOCIALISTS WANT.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891, BY THE NEW YORK ASSOCIATED PRESS.] BERLIN, Feb. 14, 1891. -The crisis in the fend ox isting between the Emperor and Prince Bismarck has become acute. In a conversati n last night at an official dinner given by Chancellor von Caprivi, the Imperor remarked that the attacks inspired by Blamarck, while nominally directed against the Chancellor were in reality aimed at himself. He was deprived, he call, by his position from publicly responding to these attacks. He feared that he would soon be oblined to take severe measures to suppress these attacks as they were dangerous to the government and the Empire. A report which has gained general credence is to the effect that Chaucellor von Caprivi has been instructed to publish in the Reichvanceiger a warning to Prince Biamarch's paper (the urger Nuchrickton) to cease publishing its pretended revelations of government affairs on pain of

The Hamburger Nachrichten published yesterday an article which caused a sensation in political and military circles. It decisred that the recent changes in the highest army personnel was due to the fact that General Count von Walderses and other officers connected with the general staff were working together to bring on a war with Russia, Chancellor von Caprivi, who disapproved of the plans of these officers, induced the Emperor to diamiza General ven Waldersee and to reform the general stail. The accusations made by the Nachrichten re-schoos charges that General von Waldersee has already desied, but which have acquired fresh sign deance from the removal of his inumates, Majora Zunn and Siebert, from the staff and their being ordered to the provinces.

day morning with Chancellor von Capirri and Herr Oehlschinger, himister of Justice. The latter atterward consolted with hierent Fessendorf and Keichsanwalt, of the Loppic Tr.bunni, on the measures to be adopted to stop the attacks. It is difficult to behave that the Emperor means to go to the length of prosecuting the ex-Chancelior, yet his uncontrolled intensity of irritation supports the rumors that he will do so. The government of Bavarna has aireary warned the Junich Alegmena that it will not be alroyed to publish articles discretating the European policy of the imperial government.

The tone of an inspired note in to-night's North German Face leintileates that a milder form of repression will be tried before Bismarck is personally challenged. The Avria German Guzeke, replying to criticisms published in the Coope Garele, says that its manuations concerning the policy of the government, backed by no proof, cannot continue. Every government must be judged by its acts, what the government must be judged by its acts, what the government must be judged by its acts, what the government must be judged by its acts, what the government must be judged by its acts, what the government wants and on whom it recess are not questions to be settled by ill-interpreted articles gobilished by opposition foarnals. In noticing the Humburger Nachreber's ropealed assertions that the relations between Germany and Russia have been imperilled since the retirement of Prince Bismarck, the North coreman Gazet's declares that the accusation levied against the foreign policy of the government is so gravely opposed to the truth that the papers making the charges must be obliged to produce proofs or stand discredited as resorting to any he in order to assail the government. The developments of the found are watched with the keenest interest. The adherents of Bismarck say that the Prince does not fear prosecution, and that he is ready to meet and perhaps wants to provoke it.

Chancellor von Captivi assembled last night in the branch half of the Chancellor's palace representatives from every political section in the Emperor sat between Herren Lovetzow and Boettween the guests adjourned to cigars and been fishered present a received an amost unbroken flow of opinions regarding sucial topics, Prince lismarck the press, the campaign, the recent anow storms, the civil authorities success in coping with the inundations, and the Workmen's Projection bill, on which ther was animated conversation, herr Rickert, Dr. Windthorst and others finishing by expressing their appreciation of the realities of the assidnous work of the Billis Committee. German Gaze le indicates that a milder form of re-pression will be tried before Bismarck is personally results of the assiduous work of the falls Committee.

Although His Majesty had passed an arduous official day, beginning early in the morning with a faill at Potsdam, he looked bright and unwearied. A chance reference to General Count von Moltke elicited the remark from the Emperor that he could still rely on the active assistance of the great tactician. It transpired that in the interval while the imperor was deciding upon a successor to General Waldersee, acking him to place his experience at his disposal in amorting teneral Waldersee's successor. The Count responded that whatever force remained in him belonged to his Emperor. Thereupon General with moch skill as a tactician, He is not credited with moch skill as a tactician. THE MADSTONE D D SOT SAVE HER.

[BY TELEGRAPH O THE REBALD.] Curcinsari, Ohio, Feb. 14, 1891 .-- Little Hannah Henn, who was bitten by a mad dog at St. Bernavd on December 1s, is dead. The dog which bit the child also bit Maggie McDermott and Trumant Austin, of Mount Adams, and Nora Nisman, of St. Bernard. The Henn girl was treated with a madstone for ten days after the was bitten, but she took to her bed, and although showing some symptoms of hydrophobia, br. b. ence, who altended her, says she died from phenmonia. Margie Melbernott, her coupanion, was taken to New York for the Pastetic treatment and has suf-fered no ill consequences from the bite.
